

THE MAGIC CAT EARS

Last week was crazy! I got the coolest cat ear headband from the mall, but little did I know, those cat ears were going to change my world.

Let's back up, I was at the mall with my family which includes my mom, my dad, my annoying brother Zack and my adorable baby sister Nicki! I love her so much! My family let me go to my favorite girly store and that's when I saw them. They were black and glittery, and they seemed to sparkle in a magical way.

I didn't realize how magical they were until I got home. My mom told me I had to clean my room. It was SUCH A MESS! I went upstairs. I looked around my disastrous bedroom, and I said "I wish my room was clean" and POOF, it was clean! I couldn't believe my eyes! All of my toys were organized. All of my clothes were hung up in my closet, and my bed was made beautifully!

Confused but excited about my clean room, I went down for dinner. My mom had made eggplant soup with zucchini noodles. Ewww! Zack was being super annoying. He was mimicking everything I did or said, and Nicki was screaming. I whispered under my breath, "I wish I was on the moon!"

The next thing I knew I was in an astronaut suit walking on the moon. It was so cool looking at the stars and seeing Earth from a different perspective, but after a few minutes, I felt alone.

I said to myself, "I wish I was back with my family," and POOF, I was back home. I still had vegetable soup to eat, an annoying brother, and a screaming sister, but there was no place I'd rather be.

When I took off my cat ears that night, I noticed a tiny sticker on the back that said "Good for 3 Wishes." So my wishing days are over, but I realized that I am right where I want to be and I still look great in my cat ears!2
