

PENNY PANDA PREVENTS A PANDEMIC

Written and illustrated by: Jaime Stone

Penny Panda is a doctor in Pandaville. One day, Dr. Panda woke up and read the newspaper. She dropped the newspaper she was holding and rushed to her office.

“What’s wrong?” nurse Penelope asked. Dr. Panda said, “A pandemic is in Pandaville!”

Ten worried families came rushing in because of the pandemic. Then more and more families came in with fear. All of them were asking the same question, “Can you cure the pandemic?” Dr. Panda knew what she had to do.

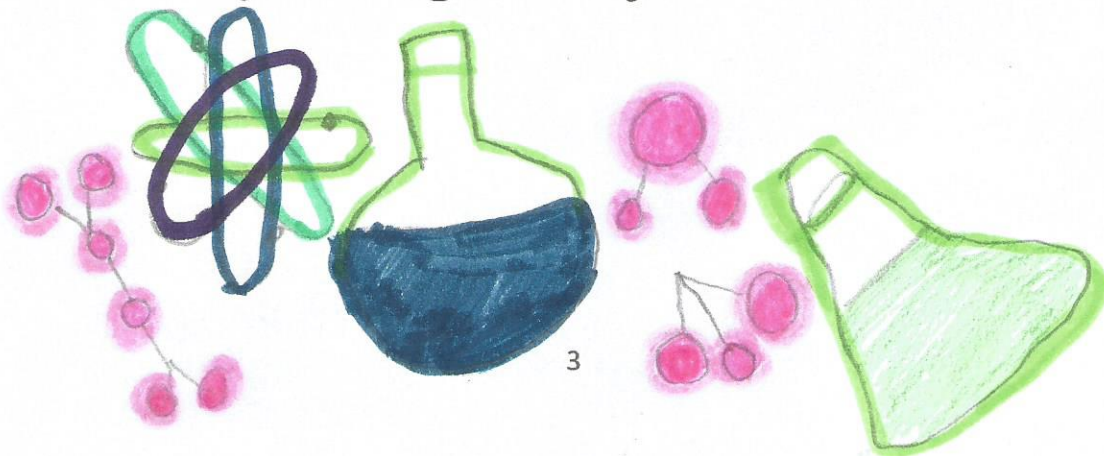

Dr. Panda had to find a cure!

Many pandas in Pandaville had become ill because of the pandemic.

She called her brother, Parker Panda. Penny knew that Parker could help her because he was a well-known medical scientist. “Parker, I need your help!” She explained that there was a pandemic going around in the village. She knew that he could help her find the right type of bamboo to make a cure.

“Why bamboo?” Parker asked. “Because of the magic fibers inside the bamboo. I have to get the rarest type of bamboo called Scasrev (s-cas-rev), but I don’t know where it is!” Parker showed a map to Penny, using a webcam. She saw that there were only a few Scasrevs left in the bamboo forest. Penny left right away to find them.

Penny walked and walked until she was so tired she couldn't feel her own feet. Finally, Penny found the Scasrev in the forest and quickly headed back to the village.

Once she finished making the cure with her brother, she shared it with all the pandas who got infected in the village. They got better as soon as they drank the cure. The last words Dr. Panda said before she dozed off were,

“WASH YOUR HANDS!!!!!!!!!!”

THE END
