My Adventures
In The Non-Fiction Section

Story, photographs, and illustrations by Elizabeth Newell
One day I was at the library.
I walked over to the non-fiction section.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>J Non Fiction</th>
<th>J Non Fiction</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>363 - 593</td>
<td>363 - 593</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Animals</td>
<td>Fairytales</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Inventions</td>
<td>Space</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cooking</td>
<td>Dinosaurs</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

I chose a book on dinosaurs. As I opened it up, I found myself in prehistoric times!
When I was about halfway through the book, I met a giant tyrannosaurus that explained to me his name means tyrant lizard.

my name means tyrant lizard king!

yes! I'm getting to that part.
After I finished that book and came back into the library, I put back the dinosaur book and got a new book about China. When I started to read the book, I found myself sitting on the Great Wall of China!
By the time I was halfway through the book, a boy walked up to me and told me that it took over 2,000 years to build the Great Wall of China. 2,000 years! I guess it is over 5,000 miles long.
After I finished that book, I saw a nice book about dogs. I started to enjoy it when I fell into a giant pile of fluffy dogs.
Just as I got to the part about my favorite dog breed, a girl came up to me and told me that Rottweilers are named after a town in Germany.
When I finished that book, I came back to the library and put it back on the shelf. I have learned that every book is a different, unique adventure, and that's a good thing. If they were all the same, that would be boring. Now I go there all the time.
And learn a lot.

THE END.