

Wooppy The Dog

Written and Illustrated by Ayanna Jain

There was a dog named woopy. She lived with her owners, Mr. and Mrs. Bloom in a purple house. They cared for her a lot and she was a happy, mischievous puppy. If she didn't want Mr. Bloom to go to work she would hide his car keys. If she didn't want Mrs. Bloom to go jogging, she will hide her shoes.

One day Wooppy went to the park where she overheard some burglars talking. They were planning to rob her house when Mr. and Mrs. Bloom would be away for Thanksgiving dinner that weekend.

Woopy thought of a plan. On Thanksgiving evening, when Mr. and Mrs. Bloom left from the house, Woopy collected all the valuable things and buried them in the backyard.

The robbers came but couldn't find anything to rob. Before they could leave Wooppy called 911 and the police came and arrested the bad guys. Mr. and Mrs. Bloom came back from the dinner, they saw a police car outside the house. They were worried. They got to know that Wooppy saved them by burying the valuable stuff in the backyard and calling the police.

Wooppy became a hero of the town and was on TV.

About the Author

I am Ayanna Jain. I am 6 years old. I live in Kansas. I love to paint and color. My favorite color is pink. I like to play outside. I love to read fairies, princesses and puppy books. I love puppies and I dream to have one puppy just like Wooppy.

Here are some of my favorite jokes for you to enjoy!

Why was the dog sweating so much?

He was a hot dog.

What is more amazing than a talking dog?

A Spelling Bee.

Where should you never take a dog?

A flea market.

What does a dog call his father?

Paw.

Why did the dog wear a watch?

He wanted to be a watchdog.